GE (McKinsey) Matrix Worksheet: Premium Healthy Snacks - ITSU

One-pageworksheet | In-classgroupexercise

A. Portfolio segments to evaluate

1) DTC subscriptions (bundles + repeat buyers)
2) Premium grocery chains
3) Pharmacy/health retailers
4) Corporate/workplace vending & foodservice
5) Mass grocery supermarkets
6) Convenience stores
7) Deep-discount/value retailers
8) Traditional candy/impulse aisle

B. Axis criteria and scoring (1-5 each)

Industry Attractiveness (max 25)	Score
1. Category growth	5
2. Profit pool potential (margin/pricing power)	4
3. Access & scalability (ease of distribution)	4
4. Competitive intensity (reverse-score: 5 = less intense)	2
5. Regulatory/claims complexity (reverse-score: 5 = low)	3
TOTAL /25	18

Business Strength (max 25)	Score
1. Brand strength in the channel	4
2. Product differentiation fit	5
3. Unit economics after fees/trade spend	3
4. Execution capability (supply, merch, promo)	4
5. Data/relationship advantage	2
TOTAL /25	18

C. Segment scoring table

Segment	Attractiveness (L/M/H)	Strength (L/M/H)	Decision (Invest/Build/Hold
1) DTCsubscriptions (bundles + repeat buyers)	17	13	Build
2) Premium grocery chains	22	22	Invest
3) Pharmacy/health retailers	18	16	Build
4) Corporate/workplace vending & foodservice	16	14	Hold
5) Mass grocery supermarkets	20	19	Invest
6) Convenience stores	18	15	Build
7) Deep-discount/value retailers	13	8	Exit/Avoid
8) Traditionalcandy/impulseaisle	11	9	Exit/Avoid

D. GE matrix grid (plot the segments)

