Personal Profile

A marketer who speaks finance and turns complex products into clear stories. Three years at Deloitte in client-facing go-to-market and business development across EMEA, where I redesigned the team's business development operating model, forecast a ~£10m pipeline, produced the monthly leadership report and contributed to a tax-technology launch that reached 46% adoption across 120 clients. My MSc in Marketing (Merit, Dean's List) from Hult International Business School, London, added brand strategy, consumer psychology, pricing, AI and data-led marketing, applied to live briefs for Bentley Motors and vivo. I am looking for a go-to-market, product or lifecycle marketing role, ideally in financial services, where I can turn customer and market insight into measurable growth.
